(4) In a wok, heat the peanut oil, then add the ground chicken. Cook the chicken until fully cooked through, chopping it into small crumbles as you stir-fry it. Add in the shallot, green onions, garlic, and lemongrass, and stir-fry for another 3 to 4 minutes until the shallots begin to turn translucent.

(5) Pour the dressing over the warm chicken mixture. Heat until 1/2 of the liquid cooks off. Add the minced mint, cilantro, and lime leaves (or lime zest), and mix until combined.

(6) Serve the chicken mixture in individual lettuce leaves. Serve with garnishes of grated carrot, cucumber slices, and additional fresh mint and cilantro leaves.
